

The site plan illustrates the main campus of the University of the Pacific (UP) in Lima, Peru. The campus is bounded by EDUARDO ACEVEDO street to the north, JACKSON street to the south, and NEA street to the east. The plan is divided into several sectors:

- SECTOR I: Located in the northern part of the campus, featuring three large rectangular buildings with diagonal cross patterns.
- SECTOR II: Located in the southwestern part, containing a large building with a complex, multi-tiered roof structure.
- SECTOR III: A central building with a prominent vertical structure, possibly a tower or a central atrium.
- SECTOR IV: Located in the southeastern part, featuring a large building with a complex, multi-tiered roof structure.
- EDIFICIO POSGRADO: A long, rectangular building with a hatched pattern, situated between Sectors II and III.
